

Student Film Winners

Left to right: Stephen Dunn, Arturo Amezcua, Thomas Adams, Donthay Davis, Emma Allison, James Hutton, Billy Moody, Ashley Love, Denzel Gosey, Mason Randolph, Jordan Williams, and Erik Granados

Students in Mr. Les Simpson's Digital Media Literacy classes at Manor New Technology High School competed in the Texas High School Project's "Think College" video competition on November 12 and won in three separate categories. Ashley Love, Erik Granados, Jordan Williams, and Thomas Adams were awarded "Best In Class: Theme" for their video "The THSP College Commercial", James Hutton, Mason Randolph, Billy Moody, and Stepehn Dunn were awarded "Best In Class: Technical" for their video "Slacker Hunter", and Emma Allison, Donthay Davis, Arturo Amezcua, and Denzel Gosey were awarded "Best In Show" for their video "If These Walls Could Talk." Combined, the students earned $650 in Best Buy gift certificates to be used in purchasing video equipment and software for Mr. Simpson's class.

All three videos, and many more, can be viewed on the Manor New Technology High School YouTube Channel: <http://www.youtube.com/ManorNewTechHigh>

The videos were shown as part of the Texas High School Project and Americas Alliance three-day conference at the Hyatt Regency in Austin, November 10-12, featuring national and state education experts, researchers, and business leaders.