Press Release – Former Secretary of Education Speaking at Manor ISD for Cinco de Mayo Celebration

On Friday, May 9, 2008, Manor ISD will be hosting Dr. Lauro Cavazos, former Secretary of Education, as part of the school district's celebration of Cinco de Mayo. This event will take place at the Manor High School Performing Arts Center at 6:30 p.m.

In 1980, Dr. Cavazos became the first alumnus to hold the distinction of serving as Texas Tech University's President. In 1988, Dr. Cavazos left his Alma Mater and became the first Hispanic appointed to a cabinet level position when President Ronald Reagan nominated him Secretary of Education (1988-1990). Dr. Cavazos holds 21 honorary degrees, has been honored as Distinguished Alumnus of Texas Tech University, and was named "Most Influential Hispanic" in the United States by Hispanic Business.

Interim Superintendent, Mr. Andrew B. Kim, believes that, "Diversity is a strength in our school district, and we are honored to have Dr. Lauro Cavazos with us." The event should be a treat to the students and our community.

Please join us for this wonderful occasion starting at 6:30 p.m. at the Manor High School Performing Arts Center.
